

Stewardship Pemberton Society The Pemberton Crabapple Project

The crabapple trees lining the main street of Pemberton produce a beautiful flower show in the spring, and abundant, ruby red fruit later in the summer. These historical trees were planted in honour and memory of local community members, though the fruit has been a major bear attractant over the years. Unfortunately, this led to many incidents of human-bear conflict. Stewardship Pemberton Society was eager to find a solution that saved the trees and the bears. Hence, the Crabapple Project was born. What began as an educational experience for local children in a home kitchen learning how to transform this fruit into sauce and jelly has grown into a project that sees all the fruit picked and made into sauce and jelly in the community kitchen. As a result, this project has been successful at mitigating human-bear conflict, while producing a beautiful edible product for your enjoyment or to offer as a gift while benefitting your PAC.

The jelly is vibrant and clear, as excellent with cheese and crackers as it is on your morning toast. The sauce is refreshing and unique, a bit more tart than 'regular' apple sauce, and tasty on its own, with yoghurt, or paired with your favourite pork recipe.
